Farmers in Southern Kentucky are contracting their corn to cattle feeders at eight and ten cents a bushel in the field.

An item about marriage of celebrated men has been going the rounds that says that Humboldt married a poor girl because he loved her, and was consequently happy. This is a mistake. Humboldt was [illegible] wedded, save to science, which was his first and only love.

Of these nearly one-third have been ladies moving in the highest circles of society. They were all middle-aged, and nearly all had been married."

A famous "roadster" made fast time lately in Paris, easily distancing all competitors. This was nothing else than an ostrich from the Acclimatization Society's Garden, which was harnessed to a light carriage and guided by long reins by its trainer. It is said to have proved very tractable in harness.

The San Diego Union says Professor Agassiz, in a conversation with a party of San Diegans, during his stay in that city, said: "Cultivate your gardens. Grow trees and flowers. There is nothing that more forcibly indicates the possession of intelligence and good taste by a community than gardens filled with shrubbery and bowers."

THURSDAY MORNING OCTOBER 3 1872

The Credit Mobilier Slander

A few weeks ago the New York Sun trumped up a charge that a large number of the leading Republicans in Congress had been guilty of accepting bribes in the shape of stock in the Credit Mobilier for their assistance to the Union Pacific Railroad Company The Sun followed its charge of corruption with specifications setting forth all the facts in connection with the transaction circumstantially even to specifying the amount of stock received by each man as the price of his honor The scandal received greater currency than it could otherwise have attained from the fact that the statements of the Sun were made apparently upon the authority of Hon Oakes Ames who was at that time operating in the Credit Mobilier and who it was said, was the person through whom the corrupt negotiations were conducted

Among those who were alleged to have accepted this bribe were Blaine of Maine Dawes of Massachusetts Garfield of Ohio and others Immediately after the scandal was made public these gentlemen published an unqualified denial of the whole story and of each particular part thereof and challenged investigation The Sun then led off the Tribune and the rest of the Greeley organs quickly falling into line with fierce and frequent repetitions of the charge resting their case upon the established character of Hon Oakes Ames as a man whose veracity was above reproach "Come gentlemen cried the Sun "these bare denials will not do Oakes Ames has made the statement, and Oakes Ames is not a man to be put down by naked denials!" And then echoed the voices of all the rest—Tray Blanche and Sweetheart —that denials were not enough, and that Hon Oakes Ames was "incapable of telling a lie All the metropolitan papers that had espoused the cause of the great Horace published columns of affected horror at this most astonishing development of corruption in high places while the little seven by nines vied with each other in their denunciation of a party that would tolerate such corruption Here was treasure-trove enough to serve his capital for the whole campaign, brought to light just at the right time, and just in the right way Republicans in Congress had been guilty of bribery upon a scale of such magnitude that only the wholesale plundering of Democratic Tammany could surpass it and it was all substantiated by a person who had been a Congressman himself who was reputed to possess immense wealth and better than all who was "incapable of telling a lie

But there was one fatal mistake in their plan of attack The Sun had said that Hon Oakes Ames had made the statements against these Republican Congressmen, and that Hon Oakes Ames could not be hunt it turns out the Sun had its information at second hand only, and that Hon Oakes Ames had not been asked directly whether he did make the statements or not So now Oakes Ames who "is incapable of telling a lie, comes upon the stage and says he has never made any such statements to any person and that the whole thing is a fabrication without any foundation whatever in fact All the witnesses on both sides of the case having pronounced the charges false we shall see whether the Greeley papers will have the candor and moral courage to publish a retraction.

Assessment of Taxes

We have received a copy of the bill introduced by Mr Patton of Marion to provide for the assessment and collection of taxes It makes some radical changes in the mode of making the assessment and in the matter of equalization It provides that property shall be assessed at its full cash value, and not at a mere nominal value as has been the custom in some counties heretofore This was the plain meaning of the law before Whether the definite and emphatic re enactment of the law will secure its enforcement remains to be seen The evil which this provision is intended to remedy is one that has been felt and deplored very generally

This bill creates a State Board of Equalization The object of creating such a board is to prevent the unequal apportionment of the burdens of the State Government amongst the several counties Heretofore one county would assess its property at twenty five per cent of its actual value, while another would assess at fifty per cent and each would contribute to the expenses of the State in proportion to the assessed value of its property Thus of two counties having equal wealth, one would pay twice as much money into the State Treasury as the other The State Board of Equalization is empowered to visit the several counties and examine witnesses, if necessary, for the purpose of equalizing the assessment

Both the State and county boards are empowered to administer oaths and examine witnesses, if necessary in the performance of their duties The State Board also has the power to make rules and regulations to govern the proceedings of county boards and of assessors

This bill if it becomes a law will be a great improvement upon the mode of assessing and collecting taxes now in vogue. The subject has evidently received considerable attention from the author of the proposed law and appears to be sufficient to meet every case that may arise in the course of its practical application

There is some crudeness in the wording of the act which will probably be corrected before it is put on its third reading For instance in the 3d section it is provided that every person must give to the Assessor under oath, a statement not only of his own property and that under his control but of all property owned or controlled by any form of which he was member It is scarcely likely that the framers intended to have each and all the members of a firm make separate statements of the partnership property The title of the section as it now reads

Mr Simpson of Benton county has introduced into the Legislature an act to enable the State of Oregon to acquire the Canal and Locks at the Falls of the Willamette We have received only a general statement of the provisions of the bill We hope to be able soon to lay before our readers a statement of all its important parts as it is a measure which cannot but interest the entire community As a measure looking to the expenditure of a large amount of the public money it would naturally attract attention but we apprehend a feature which will be deemed of greater moment to the public than even the amount of money to be expended is the securing to the State the control of the navigation of the river Unless the bill provides carefully against the canal passing again into private hands its passage would only open the door for future legislative jobs without resulting, in any good to the State Nor have we any information yet upon which an intelligent opinion can be formed as to the reasonableness of the price which Mr Simpson's bill proposes to pay the State pay for the works It proposes to pay for what we correctly informed that the State only has the land and Locks for a period of thirty years at $6 000 per year and may purchase them after the expiration of that time Whether the sum named is no more than the reasonable rental value of the work is a point upon which the Legislature ought to be well informed before passing the bill

It will hardly be disputed that the control of the river may be exclusive in one company for all practical purposes unless the means of transit at the Falls shall be kept under Legislative supervision The necessity of free navigation upon the entire length of the river is becoming more and more apparent every day This one thoroughfare for the commerce of the Willamette valley will eventually accommodate more people than all the wagon roads and stay roads that have been proposed We regard this as one of the most important measures that have been brought forward at the present session

Philip Ritz Esq, of Walla Walla favored us with a short call last evening He is on his way to the State Fair where he expects to meet many of his old Willamet friends, Mr Ritz reports times quite brisk at Walla Walla notwithstanding the extremely low prices of produce Quite a number of immigrants have arrived in the Walla Walla valley recently and expect to make that country their permanent homes

The farmers of Connecticut are suffering severe loss from a rot which makes its appearance on the tobacco a few days after it is taken into the dry house The rot is shown by an unnatural and sickly discoloring of the leaves and is found to destroy the flavor and narcotic property of the tobacco The crop has been unusually large this season, and the loss, it is feared, will be very great

A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from St Louis under date of Sept 17th says the Republicans expect to carry Missouri by a handsome majority at the Presidential election The State election is held on the same day of the Presidential election, and the Republicans have strong hopes of being able to secure a majority in the Legislature

LETTER FROM OAKES AMES EXPOSING THE SLANDERS

[From the Boston Journal September 18th]

To the people of the Second Congressional District:—Fellow citizens, Charges of a serious character, in reference to the discharge of my trust as your Representative in Congress published in the New York Sun and extensively circulated, seem to demand notice To you who know me so well and have honored me so long, with a seat in Congress I trust it is not necessary to refute such infamous charges If I alone were concerned I could not for the first time in my life, appear in public print to vindicate myself against foul and wicked slander but these charges involve the good name and integrity of some of the best men in the nation

The charges referred to—made against me and some of my associates in Congress with others equally false against the company—were first made by Henry S McComb, in a suit against the Credit Mobilier, in the State of Pennsylvania for the purpose of obtaining money wrongfully from the company as every one of the officers and stockholders believed then and now

All the executive officers of the company and several of its largest stockholders, including myself, have answered in sand omit long since under oath, that the charges were entirely false that not a single share of the stock of that company was ever given to any member of Congress directly or indirectly by me, or any one else to my knowledge

I now reiterate and reaffirm the statement with the further declaration, that I never gave a share of stock of that or any other company, directly or indirectly, to any member of Congress The sworn answers of myself and these other gentlemen made and filed in the same suit lying side by side in the same record, could have been published with the charges had it suited the political purposes of the New York Sun

I am willing to place the sworn declarations of any one of these individuals of the highest character and reputation, against the affidavits of McComb wherever he is well known, with no fear of an adverse opinion on the integrity of any one of them as against him

The list of names given by McComb as indorsed on my letter and published were written by himself as he stated when under oath at the hearing in Pennsylvania He had no authority from me for making any such statement

Perhaps I ought to add that all the legislation ever asked for in aid of the construction of the Pacific Railroad was granted years before these alleged transactions The last act of Congress in aid of that road was passed in 1864 nor has anything been asked for excepting the removal of the office of the company from New York to Boston to avoid the blackmailing suits of James Fisk, Jr and McComb in Judge Barnard's court A long time after the act of Congress amended in 1864 in aid of the Pacific Railroad was passed the road being in great danger of breaking down, I was urged to aid in its construction which I consented to do and never since I had any connection with it, or thought of being connected with its construction, has Congress granted any aid, or been asked to I did not own a share of stock until 1866 and this charge that a distribution of the stock of the Credit Mobilier in 1868 bribed members of the Congress to procure the passage of an act in 1866 is too absurd to be accredited I may have done wrong in my efforts to aid this great national enterprise I am unconscious of it I have always regarded it as among the most creditable and patriotic acts of my life CHARLES AMES

In connection with Mr Fred Hassaurek's recent convulsion to the support of Greeley the following statement of well authenticated facts by the Star is interesting

Mr Hassaurek has for some time been in negotiation with certain members of the Republican party in Ohio for the transfer of himself and his paper to the support of Grant For the round sum of $30 000 he offered to take the stump and direct the columns of the Volks Blatt against Greeley, Schurz & Co and he particularly wanted an opportunity to flay the last named gentleman of whose prominence and success he is morbidly jealous The price was pronounced too high and he subsequently reduced it to $15 000 The was regarded favorably and an agent started east to raise the money He secured $10 000 in New York and came here, expecting to raise the balance from the Republican Congressional Committee This body failed however to appreciate the offer and the price was raised within the last published time thence the whole matter rested and Hassaurek pronounced in favor of Greeley and Brown

Two men who stole a valuable mare from Mr Bartmess at La Grande was followed to Boise City where he had traded the animal for another getting some boot The thief made his traveling expenses by representing that Mr Bartmess was coming on behind with a drove of hogs and would pay the bills As the thief and his victim were both well known on the road his story was taken as true and thus he adroitly wended his way without paying a cent

The Alabama Claims and English Politics.

Somehow or other it had become a generally accepted opinion that the decision of the Geneva arbitrators was to be final and that there could not be any appeal from it, unless upon a charge of fraud which vitiates everything This was a mistake It lies with either of the sovereign powers arbitrating the Alabama claims to decline the award and appeal from it either by future diplomatic negotiations or by force The United States is satisfied with the judgment of the court, but it appears that there is a considerable party in England not satisfied, and anxious to take an appeal All the Tory journals are bitter against the award and some of them in a tone insulting to the court Sir Alexander Cockburn heads this party He refused to sign, and has published his argument in England for political effect The existing Government from Gladstone down accept the award as a final settlement of the difficulty and its members are doing what they can to bring the public to their understanding of the case The Chancellor of the Exchequer in a recent speech at Glasgow declared that the money awarded "should be paid without a murmur or delay" and he used some caustic language against Cockburn for his refusal to sign with the other arbitrators and for his attempt to prejudice the public of England by the publication of his one sided argument Thus course on the part of the Tories is open to the grave suspicion of being an electioneering dodge to secure a majority in the new Parliament soon to be elected, and the overthrow of the Gladstone ministry and policy Should it succeed to the full scope intended the chances are that England will refuse to accept the award of the Geneva court and thereby restore all the bitterness of feeling that existed between the two nations prior to the Treaty of Washington The English Tory is an animal with all the characteristic stupidity and more than the bull dog obstinacy of the French Bourbon and the arrogance of the old Southern plantation Democrat of the United States With him policy seldom finds a hearing when it is most needed and regard for justice as the mere help mate of his own prejudices If he should succeed in his present purpose he may find his reward in the rude statement of Disraeli at the head of the Cabinet and a total change of home policy But he will catch an American Tartar sure to overturn his power very soon and place England in a position which will compel her to accept a much less favorable settlement than the Geneva court now presents to her We predict however that the Tory scheme will fail, and that England will return a Parliament that will sustain the award —Sacramento Union

CAUGHT KISSING.—Among the peculiar customs of the different nations of the globe, and other nations of the earth, the custom of saluting with a kiss was, and is practiced Should two or more friends meet in private, or on the crowded streets of the city, they passed the time of day by a shaking of the hand and a union of the lips, the custom of kissing has not become obsolete, but is practiced under somewhat different circumstances In American society the custom of kissing is but rarely indulged in by the sexes By a sort of tacit conventionality, society has decreed that this agreeable task to the younger portion of the community generally assume its duties and privileges with fear and trembling, but after the first subject of kissing, yesterday, by Webster, "the circumstance" which transpired up Washington near Park The principal actors were a young man and female, both were young, the gentleman particularly handsome, but "pleasable" looking, and the quite pretty Both were waiting for a car at the intersection, lady leaning confidingly against the arm of the escort Suddenly he bent down as if moved by a common impulse, and gave her a sweet, but unsteady hand, the gentleman looked up and down the vail from the lady's face, and then glanced there on the open street, in broad daylight, at the busiest hour of high noon, in the eyes of the whole world, and without any malice aforethought, but deliberately impressed a smacking kiss upon the lips of the guiltless maiden, who smiled and blushed again, but was no villain The gentleman had given the first kiss so well that he took two more, each with a hasty, cheeplish glance to see if any one was looking at him The first kiss, which resembled the popping of a champagne cork, attracted the attention of the inmates of a certain private boarding house, who with one accord rushed pell-mell to the window, just in time to see the chase of the two last "busses!" It was a mean trick to play on animates to do so, but, alas for human nature, curiosity and curiosity They "larfed" a tremendous "larf" and knew that "other eyes" than those of the witnessed their little tete a tete The meeting was not locality with a vengeance, and haven't been since Kissing on the street is played out, but it is sometimes attended with embarrassment to the parties.

Later—We learn that the couple above referred to will be married, so the "little incident" will be briefly narrated is nobody's business but their own. Were it any of our affair we would mention names

CAUGHT KISSING —Among the people of the Orient, and other nations of the globe the custom of saluting with a kiss was and is still practiced Should two or more friends meet, either in crowded streets or highways private, or on the crowded streets or highways they passed the time of day by a cordial grasp of the hand, and a union of the lips In this country the custom of kissing has not become absolete, but is practiced under somewhat different circumstances In American society the practice of kissing is but rarely indulged in by old people By a sort of tacit conventionality, society assigns this agreeable task to the younger members who generally assume its duties and responsibilities with fear and trembling, but invariably with pleasure We were forcibly reminded of the subject of kissing, yesterday, by a "little circumstance" which transpired up Washington street near Park The principal actors were a male and female, both were young the gentleman not particularly handsome, but "passable" the lady quite pretty Both were walking in the same direction, lady leading confidingly and fondly on the arm of the escort Suddenly both stopped, as if moved by a common impulse With a care ful, but unsteady hand, the gentleman removed the veil from the lady's face, and then and there, on the open street, in broad daylight, at the hour of high noon, in the eyes of a Christian world, and without any malice aforethought, deliberately impressed a smacking kiss on the lips of the guiltless maiden, who smiled and smiled again, but was no villain The gentleman liked the first kiss so well that he took two more, and watching each with a hasty, sheepish glance around to see if any one was looking at him But he was seen. The first kiss, which resounded like the popping of a champagne cork, attracted the attention of the inmates of a certain private boarding house hard by, who with one accord rushed pell mell to the window, just in time to see the chap take the two last "busses" It was a mean trick for the ladies to do so, but, alas for human weakness and curiosity They 'larfed' a tremendous 'larf,' so loud that the couple looked up to the window and knew that "other eyes" than their own had witnessed their little tete a tete They left that locality with a vengeance, and haven't been seen since. Kissing on the street is pleasant exercise, but it is sometimes attended with a little embarrassment to the parties

Later—We learn that the couple are soon to be married, so the "little incident" we have briefly narrated is nobody's business but their own. Were it any of our affair we should give names.

SEVEN LIONS IN ONE GANG —A few days ago H. & F. Kerns, of East Portland, was out hunting on Sandy, some fifteen miles from Portland In traveling through the woods, he cast his eye up a ravine some fifty yards and discovered what he took for a deer, at which he discharged his gun. But as soon as he had fired he discovered his mistake, for the animal had been hit and it set up a most terrific roar, which fairly made Mr K's hair stand on end But if that roar raised his hair, imagine how he must have been lifted out of his boots when, as he was reloading his gun and approaching the spot where the ferocious beast had fallen, he saw it was a large California lion and had not been completely killed but only disabled, and when he was near it, six others of the same species came running toward the place, and surrounding their fallen fellow, began growling like demons and whisking their bushy tails in the air, meantime looking around with glaring eyes as if seeking for the cause of their comrade's wounds Mr Kerns thought discretion the better part of valor, and concluded not to remain in that immediate vicinity for any extended length of time He concluded to go to camp, and didn't stand on the order of his going, either The next morning he and a man who lived near by, taking with them a bear dog, which had never before been known to refuse to tackle any animal, repaired to the place where the beasts had been seen When they came to the spot, the dog manifested a feeling of the same feeling which induced Mr K. to return to camp so suddenly the day before, and he turned his tail toward the lion hunters, and in double quick time got for home, despite all the efforts of his master to induce him to return The gentlemen found that the beasts which had been shot had crawled off into the thick woods and they were unable to find him. Mr Kerns has seen service in the Indian country, and is a man of more than usual nerve, but he says that when he saw the tiger like forms, the grinning teeth and flaming eyeballs of the six huge animals around the form of the seventh, he felt just a little squeamish, and felt willing to call it "quits" with the whole brood

BLOWN DOWN.—A large three story wooden building, in course of construction at the corner of B and Third street, was prostrated yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, by the wind The building belonged to a gentleman who is ill able to bear the loss. He was constructing it for a large hotel. The structure was 56x24 feet, and 33 feet from the sill to the eaves. The timbers had all been raised, but not adequately braced, or weatherboarded. The sheeting on the roof was nailed down, and about half the shingles placed on A stiff breeze was blowing during the forenoon yesterday, and although the building seemed a little shaky, neither the owner nor two other men who were employed in putting on the roof, thought there was any danger of its falling A sudden gust of wind swept up from the south, and in rolling under the roof like a spread umbrella began to violently sway the frail structure At the same instant loud cracks were heard, timbers were snapped like reeds from the force, and the building commenced its descent The owner within the act of entering the western end of the building just as the timbers began to sway and break. He narrowly escaped being caught between the standing, but managed to slip out in time to save himself The two men on the roof were dreadfully frightened, as death seemed inevitable for a moment But they had the coolness and presence of mind to remain where they were and cling on to the rafters The structure came down with a tremendous crash and the two men were landed safely out in the middle of the street on the roof Although they fell a distance of forty feet, and were surrounded with the wreck, both escaped with a few scratches only, and a sound "shake up" A Chinaman who was working at the eastern end of the building—the direction in which it fell—barely escaped with his "bacon" by a rapid flight The loss is complete, nearly all the timbers being smashed and broken, and is estimated at or near $1000

PORTLAND DALLES AND SALT LAKE RAILROAD We understand that Mr. A Blair, Chief Engineer of the above named road, has completed the survey of the main line as far as Pendleton in Umatilla, county, a distance of forty-seven and a half miles from the initial point on the Columbia river, and a branch to Weston, a distance of twenty two and a half miles from Pendleton His is now engaged in locating the route across the Blue Mountains to La Grande a distance of fifty three miles from Pendleton and expects to reach that point within three weeks The route as surveyed commences at Grand Ronde Landing, on the Columbia, about six miles below the mouth of the Umatilla river, and crosses the elevated lands between the Columbia and Umatilla rivers, a distance of fifteen miles, where it enters the Umatilla valley From that point it continues up the Umatilla valley to Pendleton a distance of thirty two and a half miles The branch line to Weston starts from Pendleton and passes up Wild Horse creek a distance of about eighteen miles, where it leaves that creek and passes over to Pine creek, on which Weston is located We understand that the route, as surveyed is very favorable for the construction of the road and that the cost of building it will be comparatively light. Considering the importance of this road to Portland and the whole of the State of Oregon, we hope to see our citizens and the Legislature give it such aid as will place it on a firm foundation

INDUCING IMMIGRATION —O S Phelps Esq., of this city, is still in correspondence with different sections of the Old World upon the advantages of Oregon as a home for those who emigrate to America No other man in Oregon has done so much to induce immigration into this State as Mr Phelps Some five hundred persons now in the State came upon his representations and upon information sent them by him, and we have not heard of one who repents of having selected Oregon for a home Mr Phelps has expended a considerable amount of time and money in this work and has asked no compensation or remuneration

RECEPTION —Full arrangements have been made by the friends of Hon J H Mitchell U S Senator elect, to give him an enthusiastic and rousing reception at the Court House in this city, next Saturday evening Music, speeches and general congratulation to the gentleman on his elevation to such distinguished honors will be the prominent features of the meeting There will doubtless be a large attendance on the occasion

RESISTING AN OFFICER —When the Sheriff of Clackamas county was reading the papers proving his authority to seize the property of Wilson's circus at Oregon City a man named John Lee attached to the Company and driving one of the wagons jumped on his seat and seizing the lines attempted to start his team of six horses in spite of the efforts of the Sheriff to stop them The Sheriff drew his pistol, and presenting it at Lee commanded him to stop at the peril of his life Lee in the excitement of the moment, very foolishly drew his pistol also Fortunately for Mr Lee, he had a cool, collected man in the Sheriff to deal with otherwise his life might have paid the forfeit The Sheriff keeping a steady eye on his man deliberately commanded him to drop the lines and come down from his seat an order he thought proper to obey Lee was arrested and examined before Justice Burns for resisting an officer and stands committed to appear for trial at the County Sessions His friends gave bonds for his appearance, and he was permitted to go on with the Company It is but justice to Lee to state that he says he did not realize that it was an officer of the law at the moment, and he only drew his pistol when he saw that one was drawn on him He also states that having just given his horses all the water they wanted to drink, (which is a fact) and knowing it was dangerous for them to remain standing for any length of time, he merely wanted to keep them moving, knowing they were all valuable animals, and that he had no intention of driving out of town

ACROSS THE CISTERNS —At the intersection of the different streets along First, wherever a fire cistern is placed, it will be observed that the street car track has not been laid The ties and rails are placed to the outer edge of the plank covering, but no further. To bring the track across the tops of these cisterns at a grade corresponding with that of other portions of the track, would necessitate the removal of the plank coverings, as the height of the ties and rails, combined, are about equal to the thickness of the planks The cisterns would have to be bridged over, and the coverings placed about ten inches lower than at present This would be attended with considerable loss of time, and additional labor and expense We learn that the Company propose to cross the cisterns in the following manner The tops of the cisterns are now about one and a half inches below the line of the track each way It is proposed to procure 'tire iron' about one inch by four in breadth, and of sufficient length to span the distance between the ends of the rails Along at intervals strong bolts will be placed through the iron and into the wood. This will be a decided saving, and will probably answer all the requirements of the Company, for the present at least

AGREEABLY DISAPPOINTED —The first thing which greeted the drowsy sense of hearing at an early hour yesterday morning, was the soothing sound of the pattering rain The prospects for the Fair looked gloomy, and many of our ladies and gentlemen who were congratulating themselves on a pleasant trip to the grounds on the cars, and a more pleasant sojourn of a few days at the Fair, felt their hearts sink within them with disappointment Old Sol, however had not more than cleverly passed the limits of the horizon, than the clouds cleared away, the rain ceased to descend, and a most glorious day was vouchsafed to this lower world. The rain had scarcely more than laid the dust, and purified the air

CHIEF ENGINEER —The annual election among our firemen for a Chief Engineer, and First and Second Assistants, will come off the first Monday in December. There is already considerable talk among the members of the Department as to the candidates for these positions The position of Chief is one of great responsibility, as the safety of life and property depends in a great measure on that officer and his two assistants as well as with the department Intrepidity, presence of mind under all circumstances, experience, and a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the position, are among the elements necessary to constitute a Chief Engineer

ALLOWED TO PROCEED —Kingsley & Thompson's Circus and Hippodrome, which was seized by the Sheriff at Oregon City on an execution against John Wilson for $3,600, after being detained all day, was permitted to depart for Salem on condition that the Deputy Sheriff accompanied it, and that he be considered in possession To this arrangement Mr Kingsley consented, and at 11 o'clock, Tuesday night, the company started for Salem, Mr Kingsley being determined that visitors to the State Fair should be favored with a performance Wednesday night

STREET QUARREL —Two drunken fellows indulged in a turbulent quarrel last evening near the corner of Washington and First These public disturbers continued their loud and frequently indecent banterings for some time, up and down the sidewalk to the inconvenience and disgust of the public. Strange to say, during the whole time—nearly half an hour—no policemen made their appearance to arrest these violators of the peace and dignity of the city, and they were allowed at length to depart with impunity.

PAID OUT —From Postmaster Wakefield we learn that the amount disbursed at that office, on account of construction of the new Custom House and Postoffice building, the present year, is as follows Coin on contract to Noah Lambert, $10,530, currency, $5,537 97 total, $16 067 97

ASSESSMENT ROLL —Mr A E Borthwick one of the Deputy County Clerks, is now engaged in making out a copy of the assessment roll for the present year He has reached already the letter "H" in alphabetical order, and will complete the entire list in about two weeks

DISMISSED —The man who shot a dog in East Portland a few days ago, because the animal supposed his hand was a piece of meat, and went for it accordingly, was tried Tuesday before Justice Dodge The defendant was discharged after a hearing of the case.

TO ROSEBURG —We are informed that the road bed for the O & C R R, has been completed through to Roseburg The rails are being laid as rapidly as they can be carried forward Cars will be running through to Roseburg by the first of next week

FOR SAN FRANCISCO —The steamer Oriflamme will sail for San Francisco this evening with passengers and freight The steamer Olympia will sail for the same port on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock For freight or passage apply on board

QUENCHED —Fires were observed Tuesday night burning fiercely on the mountain west of this city The refreshing shower which fell yesterday morning quenched these fires, and doubtless, by so doing, saved many cords of firewood

REAL ESTATE SALES —The following real estate was sold October 2 1872 by A B Richardson Auctioneer, lots three and four in block 122, Gilliham's Addition to the city of Portland price realized $1 650

HANDSOME —The Central School House is rapidly approaching completion It is one of the largest and most handsome school houses in the State The tower is completed The building is a credit to any city

THE DREDGER —The dredger is still at work at the mouth of the Willamet As soon as the obstructions there are removed work will be resumed at Swan Island

WILL MEET —The County Court will convene on next Monday, the 7th inst., for the transaction of County business

RETURNED —Mr Charles Fishel of Fishel & Roberts who has been absent for some time past in San Francisco selecting new goods arrived on the steamer He brings the best selected stock of goods ever brought to this city No pains have been spared to procure the finest goods and the public may rest assured that they will find the latest styles and most elegant goods offered in this city to the new stock just received Each steamer will bring something new for this house.

THE HAIR ON —If you have made up your mind to array yourself in a new outfit and are desirous of getting the latest styles best goods and lowest prices, you cannot do better than call and select from the fresh invoices which Mr Schaefer has been receiving in San Francisco for the house of J O Neil & Co No 95 First street They have with out doubt the finest goods ever offered to the public Orders by the wholesale will go further to benefit Comment is unnecessary

ALL IN ONE —Quinn the indefatigable has ridden a new move The First street stand has been closed and his up-town customers will find him at his old stand where many improvements have been made If you want Game Fish or anything that is good go to Quinn's Union Fish Market Washington street between First and Second

Natural Decay—Protect the System

The human body is a machine, and therefore cannot endure forever but, like a watch or sewing machine it will last much longer if properly regulated and duly repaired, than if no pains were taken to keep it in order The great object of every one who desires a long and healthy life should be to put the body in a condition to resist the life threatening influences by which we are all more or less surrounded and no invigorant and corrective at present known so effectively answers this purpose as the vitalizing elixir which under the unpronounceable name of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been for more than forty years the stimulating tonic of America In cases where the stomach is constantly deranged with the diseases inseparable from large populations and in many regions where the soggy soil reeks with miasma on the prairies and in the forests, where every fall the air is tainted with exhalations from rotting vegetation and decomposing lakes—in short in every locality where malarious exists this powerful vegetable antidote is urgently needed For constipation biliousness fevers dyspepsia corrosion of the liver nervousness rheumatism and all diseases which originate by infected air impure water or sudden changes of temperature may be averted by strengthening and regulating the system in advance with Hostetter's Bitters Autumn is always a season of peril especially to weak, susceptible organizations Even the more vigorous are apt to be thrown into temporary prostration by the liquid atmosphere loaded with deleterious gases produced by vegetable decay The fall is a period of the year when the renovating and regulation of the living machine is peculiarly important, and the Bitters should therefore be taken daily at this critical season

An App'e Gathering

I plucked pink blossoms from mine apple-tree,
And wore them all the evening in my hair.
Then in the season when I went to sea,
I found no apples there.

With dangling baskets all along the grass
As I had come I went the self same track,
My neighbors mocked me, while they saw me pass
Seeming by hand clasped back.

Lillian and Lil has smiled in trudging by
Their heaped up baskets teased me like a jeer
Sweet voices they sang beneath the sunset sky,
Their mother's home was near

Plump fruitage passed me with her basket full,
A stronger hand than hers helped it along
A voice talked with her through the shade was cool
More sweet to me than song

Ah Willie, Willie was my love less worth
Than high set with their green leaves I plied above?
I counted rosiest apples on the earth
Of fair less worth than love?

So closed it was with me too clasped to this,
Laughing and listening, in this cozy lane,—
To think that by this way we used to walk,
We shall not walk again.

I let my neighbors pass me, alone and twice
And through the latest said the night grew chill,
And hastened; but I loitered, when the dews
Fell fast, I loitered still.

Horace Greeley on Chinese Immigration

[From the Sacramento Bee.]

On the first day of August, 1872, A. M. Comstock, W. D. Delaney and W. W. Swadley, Sub-Committee of the Executive Committee of the Labor party of California, addressed a note to Horace Greeley, nominee for President, in which they were instructed to ask him to give his views upon the Chinese immigration question, that they might be submitted to the voters of this coast. The reply to this came from John Cochrane, Chairman of the New York Liberal Republican Committee, in which he said:

"Yours is received, referring to the question of Chinese immigration. Mr. Greeley is forbidden the field of political discussion."

And yet Mr. Greeley is discussing from the stump every day the whole field of politics! He is now traveling through Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, and speaking every night—and often makes two or three public talks every day! Greeley would not be allowed to answer because if he, answered he would have said—for Greeley will not tell a lie—"There should be but one law regulating immigration and that should apply alike to all nations with which we are at peace. This would place the Mongolian, Malay and African upon the same plane with the Caucasian. I cannot be proscriptive of any class, color, sect or nationality." Or if not this, his answer would have been the same in substance.

And Cochrane, speaking for Greeley, said further, in his note to the California Labor Committee:

"The platform he [Greeley] indorses includes what he said as a candidate, and people are to judge of him by what he said and did before that."

Very well. Here is what he has said upon this subject in his Tribune of July 31, 1871.

"We hope the effect of Chinese immigration on the common laborers of the country will be to render them more diligent, prosevering, temperate, and frugal than they now are, many of them sadly need amendment in these respects, and the average Chinaman sets them an excellent example which they will do well to take heed. He doesn't waste his time and means in suicidal strikes.

On the whole it seems to us that every class of our people would be benefited by the presence and example of John Chinaman on our soil, and we propose that he shall come if he chooses, and stay in peace."

Probably this is the reason why the Democrats of California support Greeley—why the Post, Examiner and other Democratic journals that have so berated Chinaman are now so loud in Greeley's praise! Probably that is why the Democratic workers of Sacramento support him, and why Paschal Coggins, Democratic nominee for Congress, has so eutnestly pronounced for him. And it is a wonder that upon the same ground he does not received the support of the Sacramento Union.

There is but one lesson to be drawn from this, which is that the Democratic party, not only as a party, but the Democrats as individuals also, have given up their hostility to Chinese immigration. That "bloody chasm" has been bridged by their support of Greeley for it will not do to tell us that they are opposed to that which they work for and support—and by voting for Greeley for President, or by sustaining for Congress those who vote for him, they declare in the most, positive and emphatic manner, that they are not hostile, save from the lips outward, to Chinese immigration. Very good, So that matter is settled; and there let it rest—and nevermore shall they blabber over those pesky Mongolians.

WOULDN'T 'AR GOT OFF.—The present position of some of the eleventh-hour Republicans, who have come out for Greeley, brings to mind the story of an old fellow in New Hampshire who, whatever his condition, never lost the sense of his dignity. One warm Summer's day he was seated on the top of a stage coach which was slowly wending its way over the sandy roads above Concord. Frequent application to his pocket-flask had rendered his position somewhat unsteady, and at last a sudden jolt tumbled him off into the sand by the roadside. The driver stopped and with aid from the passengers, he was at last set up again in the coach, between two other men, who were to guard against a recurrence of such an accident.

Our hero looked very solemn for a mile or two, without any remark, and then spoke:

"I shay driver, we had a pretty bad upshet."

"Upset! We haven't upset," replied the driver, a little hurt at the suggestion.

"Yes we did upshet! I shay we did upshet! I'll leave it to these gemmelman if we didn't upshet."

The umpires at once decided against him. The solemn look came back to his face. He meditated some minutes, and then gravely responded:

"I shay, driver, if I had known we didn't upshet, I wouldn't 'ar got off."

THE CHICAGO "TIMES" ON MAINE.—The leading Democratic paper of the West says that "the returns from Maine are quite sufficient to indicate the result, and the result is quite sufficient to indicate that the Greeley business is the most absurb and contemptible fiasco in the history of American politics." It adds: "The truth is that Mr. Greeley is proving to be of more service to the Radicals in the character of leader of the opposite party than he was in the capacity of editor of their principle organ. Can the men who have been deluded or dragooned into promising him their support longer resist the evidences of this fact? The remedy is not yet out of their hand, and if they fail to apply it they will be held guilty of squandering opportunities with a profligacy that amounts to madness."

NEW HAY RAKE.—Josh Billings thus speaks of a new agricultural implement, to which the attention of farmers is invited. "John Rogers' revolving, expanding, unicornemonious, self-adjusting, self-contrakting, self-greasing and self-righteous hoss-rake is now forever offered to a generous publik. These rakes are as easy to keep in repair as a hitching post, and will rake up a paper of pins mowed broadcast in a ten-acker field of wheat stubble and stick them into the paper again. These rakes can be used in winter for a hen-roost, or so sawed up into stovewood for the kitchen fire. No farmer ov good moral karakter should be without this rake, even if he has to steal one."

Jim Ashley, from Montana, who was so neatly hauled over the coals by Mr. Garfield in Pennsylvania, went down East. Of his movements, the Chicago Post says, that Ashley the howling Jubbernuncy of Montana, went to Maine to shake his knotted and combined locks and frighten the unruly anti-Greeley children of the Sunrise State. His moving eloquence is mere sound and fury, signifying nothing, and did not scare the Down Easters worth a c nt.

Wild Oats, a comic pictorial, has a good out on Greeley. It represents him riding an old broken down nag for the White House, with the remark that if he had not abused the Democratic horse so badly, he would be better able to make the trip on time, while a free love woman is holding a bucket of free love oats to until more life into that poor old cayuse.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Examiner says: "When Abraham Lincoln was so rudely removed from this mundane sphere." That word rudely is very expressive. What is the reason that Democratic papers do not say "assassinated!"

Colonel Robert H. Taylor of Virginia City, Nevada, a life long Democrat, has joined the Republican party. So has Judge Pitzer of Pioche.

The Republican majority in Maine is more than 60 per cent larger than it was one year ago. A gain equal to that in the Pine Tree State throughout the country would re-elect Grant by a more decisive vote than that which indorsed the administration of Lincoln.

Whenever you find a man that holds Confederate bonds, you will find one who goes for Horace Greeley—but not the same way he would have gone for him during the rebellion. Ten years ago he would have gone for him with a bullet, now he will go for him with a ballot

Iowa gains three members in the next Congress. The entire delegation is now Republican, of which four—McCrary in the First, Aylett R Cotton in the Second, William G. Donnon in the Third, and Jackson Orr, who by the new apportionment is changed from the Sixth to the Ninth, have been nominated for re-election.

A few weeks ago gambling John Morrissey put up some money on Greeley. John is said to be a little dissatisfied with the present outlook. He wrote to Horace the other day about the propriety of "hedging," and the sage blandly replied, "——you go West, and hedge with Osage orange." John is thinking about it, but he swears he never hedged any of his bets that way before.

The Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune says the Democrats in that State are just beginning to realize the immense majority they have to overcome, and instead of claiming only 10,000 against them, as they did a few weeks ago, they begin to concede 20,000, and some of them even more than that. This is a bigger thing than they bargained for, and it is not strange that many Minnesota Liberals are returning to the Republican fold

The election of a Mormon in Utah is now claimed as a Greeley victory. This is the way the Louisville Courier-Journal puts it: "The Greeley epidemic is prevailing in Utah also. George Q. Cannon, Liberal candidate for Delegate in Congress, was elected over Maxwell, Grant nominee, by an overwhelming majority, on the 5th. The Greeley ground-swell is felt everywhere." Nothing like eating your crow, cheerfully.

A Milwaukee paper says the Greeley Club in the Fourth Ward of that city has given up the ghost. The tidal wave from Maine struck it a few days after the election in that State, and the officers, who were about the only persons present, tearfully tendered their resignation to each other, expressed themselves satisfied that they were "a gone community," hoped that some "Liberal" soul would pay their outstanding bills and then sadly retired to the slow music of a hurdy-gurdy in an adjoining saloon. They were sick, and their last words were, "Send for Nasby."

It is estimated that enough property and and machinery go to waste with many farmers every year to pay all the taxes on the farm.

Wheat in Liverpool, 10s 4d

The bark Free Trade went down Thursday night to the mouth of the Cowlitz, where she will load with Cottonwood Bolts for San Francisco.

The brig Perpetua is now discharging Iron at Kalama

The brig Orient is now at St. Helens receiving a cargo of Lumber for San Francisco.

The bark Manila having completed her cargo of Wheat for Liverpool, went down the river yesterday from Columbia City to Astoria. She will pass out to sea the first opportunity.

The brig Perpetua will load at some point down the river for San Francisco, as soon as she completes her cargo of Iron She will probably receive Lumber.

The bark Navigator went down the river on Tuesday. The Electric will soon follow. Both the vessels will stop at Columbia City, at which point their cargoes of Wheat will be completed, by means of steamers and barges from this port.

The bark Siam is now at Astoria.

The schooner Mala Bond is reported in the river.

The money market exhibits no material change. Collections are reported as made with much difficulty, owing to the prevailing scarcity of coin. Nevertheless we are informed that our retailers will generally be able to meet their liabilities without much pressure. The probability is of a dull week see before us, as the State Fair is in progress, and is the great attraction to the people of Oregon for the time being.

The eastern money market seems again to be settled after the late corner in gold, which is said to have been caused by Henry N. Smith and Jay Gould. It appears that Drew had made a "corner" in Erie stock, to tighten which he was obliged to buy more or lose his grip. But Erie stock called for gold, and the Smith-Gould party bulled the gold market so that at one time the advance in price represented $125 premium on every $10,000 bought. Erie stock ran up in four hours from 46¾ to 55 The "shorts" on Erie had to pay from $200 to $250 for the use of 100 shares of Erie for one day. In many instances those who had payments to meet in gold were taxed 1¼ per cent for the day. A. T. Stewart's payments were so heavy that the premium cost him $70,000. This ratio, it is said, was never exceeded but once before. During this pressure Union Pacific stock declined from a quarter to a half per cent, and Vanderbilt bought 50,000 shares.

The Philadelphia Ledger of a late date, commenting on the financial situation of that city, remarks: "There was more money about, and short paper was more in demand."

The Cincinnati Gazette, referring to the money status of that town, says "The banks, as a rule, have ample means, and discount freely Money was freely offered on call or specific time at 8 per cent"

The New York Times, in its money article, puts forth the following "It is now certain that the continued ease in money on the street, far below the bank terms, and when the banks themselves were complaining of poverty at 7 per cent, was made quite as artificial as the sudden stringency on call loan, which has succeeded this ease."

The following excellent suggestions in regard to wheat raising on this coast, are taken from an address delivered by President Reed, before the California Agricultural Society. Many of his remarks apply to Oregon equally with California. He says

There is no good reason why California wheat cannot be handled as the wheat in the Eastern States is handled, and the sacks in which it is delivered to the buyer emptied and returned to the seller. There is no good reason why wheat cannot be shipped in bulk from Vallejo, Oakland, San Francisco, or any other port on the Pacific coast, to Liverpool, as well as from Chicago, New York, or any other port on the Atlantic seaboard. Our wheat is dried, plumper, and is always delivered in better shipping condition than any wheat produced east of the Rocky Mountains Vessels can be prepared to receive wheat in bulk to double Cape Horn as well as to cross the atlantic, and the premium of insurance need be increased only in the same proportion here as there

In proportion as we lessen the cost of production and marketing a product, just in that proportion we increase the profits of producer or decrease the cost to the consumer. Therefore, it is just as much the interest of the farmers of this State to secure cheap transportation for their surplus grain from their farms to the door of the consumer, as it is to procure cheap labor, or increased facilities in its production. Eight years ago, and from that time until 1870, the freight on wheat—by boat—from Chico, Butt county, to San Francisco, was $5 per ton; in 1870, it was increased to $5 50; in 1871, to $6, and this year it is $6 50. Until this season, the freight on wheat from Grayson, on the San Joaquin river, in bulk was $1 per ton; this year it is increased to $5 It costs more to move grain from nearly every wheat growing district in the interior of the State to San Francisco, than it did four years ago.

In 1871, the freight on wheat from San Francisco to Liverpool was on an average about $10 per ton, while this year it since it became apparent that we were going to have a large surplus, and that that surplus would be wanted in England—the freight has ranged at about $13 per ton It was worth but $10 to ship wheat from San Francisco to Liverpool in 1871—it is worth but that now, and the excess of $15 per ton into much unnecessary expense to the farmers of this State in marketing the grain. It is estimated that we will have 70,000 tons of wheat this year which we were to ship the entire surplus to Liverpool, this unnecessary tax on the grain producers of the State will foot up to $10,000,000. Throwing out of the estimate the unnecessary additional expense of the inland transportation, which must be several million dollars including the stack tax and the legitimate profit on the grain crop this year is reduced below what the farmers should have realized, $12,000,000

This is not alone a drag on the agricultural, but every other industry of the State feels indirectly the oppression, and hence every other industry—the manufacturer the mechanic, and the laboring man—are all interested in averting the evil. But how is it to be done? Unity of action on the part of those interested—business tact on energy and perseverence—and a very large amount of mutual interest, all these must be secured. And the perfect co-operation of all will be necessary With proper security the cheap capital can be secured Ample and undoubted security will give us command of the keys to the coffers of England and Germany at from three to four per cent. per annum

An App'e Gathering.

I plucked pink b'ossoms from mine apple-tree,
And wore them all the evening in my hair.
Then in the season when I went to see,
I found no apples there

With dangling baskets all along the grass,
As I had come, I went the self same track
My neighbors mocked me, while e they saw me pass
So empty handed back

Lillian and Lil las smiled to mingling by,
"Your heaped up baskets teased me like a jest"
I answered they were heavy beneath the sunset sky,
At left mother's home was near

Plump fa'rmaids paused mi w ih her basket full,
A stronger hand than hers helped it along
A voice talked with her the night the shadows cool
Was sweet to me their song

Ah Willie, Willie was my love less worth
Than apples with their green leaves piled above?
I'd gained rustet apples on the earth
Of far less worth than love

So since it was with me you stooped to talk
Laugh on and listening I the very last —
To think that by the way we used to walk
We shall not walk again

I let the neighbors pass me, ones and twos
And gropes the fact amid the night grew chill,
And I listened, but I listened, who o the dews
Fell fas , I listened still

Horace Greeley on Chinese Immigration.

[From the Sacramento Bee.]

On the first day of August, 1872, A. M. Comstock, W. D. Delaney and W W Swadley, Sub-Committee of the Executive Committee of the Labor party of California, addressed a note to Horace Greeley, nominee for President, in which they were instructed to ask him to give his views upon the Chinese immigration question, that they might be submitted to the voters of this coast. The reply to this came from John Cochrane, Chairman of the New York Liberal Republican Committee, in which he said.

"Yours is received, referring to the question of Chinese immigration. Mr Greeley is forbidden the field of political discussion."

And yet Mr. Greeley is discussing from the stump every day the whole field of politics! He is now traveling through Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, and speaking every night—and often makes two or three public talks every day! Greeley would not be allowed to answer because if he answered he would have said—for Greeley will not tell a lie—"There should be but one law regulating immigration and that should apply alike to all nations with which we are at peace. This would place the Mongolian, Malay and African upon the same plane with the Caucasian. I cannot be proscriptive of any class, color, sect or nationality." Or if not this, his answer would have been the same in substance.

And Cochrane, speaking for Greeley, said further, in his note to the Chinese Labor Committee:

"The platform he [Greeley] indorses includes what he said as a candidate, and people are to judge of him by what he said and did before that."

Very well. Here is what he has said upon this subject in his Tribune of July 31, 1871.

"We hope the effect of Chinese immigration on the common laborers of the country will be to render them more diligent, prosevering, temperate, and frugal, than they now are; many of them sadly need amendment in these respects, and the average Chinaman sets them an excellent example which they will do well to take heed. He doesn't waste his time and means in suicidal strikes.

On the whole it seems to us that every class of our people would be benefited by the presence and example of John Chinaman on our soil, and we propose that he shall come if he chooses, and stay in peace."

Probably this is the reason why the Democrats of California support Greeley—why the Post, Examiner and other Democratic journals that have so berated Chinamen are now so loud in Greeley's praise! Probably that is why the Democratic workers of Sacramento support him, and why Paschal Coggins, Democratic nominee for Congress, has so earnestly pronounced for him. And it is a wonder that upon the same ground he does not received the support of the Sacramento Union.

There is but one lesson to be drawn from this, which is that the Democratic party, not only as a party, but the Democrats as individuals also, have given up their hostility to Chinese immigration. That "bloody chasm" has been bridged by their support of Greeley for it will not do to tell us that they are opposed to that which they work for and support—and by voting for Greeley for President, or by sustaining for Congress those who vote for him, they declare in the most, positive and emphatic manner, that they are not hostile, save from the lips outward, to Chinese immigration. Very good. So that matter is settled; and there let it rest—and nevermore shall they blabber over these pesky Mongolians.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Examiner says: "When Abraham Lincoln was so rudely removed from this mundane sphere." That word rudely is very expressive. What is the reason that Democratic papers do not say "assassinated!"

Colonel Robert H Taylor of Virginia City, Nevada, a life long Democrat, has joined the Republican party. So has Judge Pitzer of Pioche.

The Republican majority in Maine is more than 60 per cent. larger than it was one year ago. A gain equal to that in the Pine Tree State throughout the country would re-elect Grant by a more decisive vote than that which indorsed the administration of Lincoln.

Whenever you find a man that holds Confederate bonds, you will find one who goes for Horace Greeley—but not the same way he would have gone for him during the rebellion Ten years ago he would have gone for him with a bullet, now he will go for him with a ballot.

Iowa three members in the next Congress. The entire delegation is now Republican, of which four. McCrary in the First, Aylett R Cotton in the Second, William G Donnan in the Third, and Jackson Orr, who by the new apportionment is changed from the Sixth to the Ninth, have been nominated for re-election.

A few weeks ago gambling John Morrissey put up some money on Greeley John is said to be a little dissatisfied with the present outlook. He wrote to Horace the other day about the propriety of "hedging," and the sage blandly replied, "——you go West, and hedge with Osage orange" John is thinking about it, but he swears he never hedged any of his bets that way before.

The Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune says the Democrats in that State are just beginning to realize the immense majority they have to overcome, and instead of claiming only 10,000 against them, as they did a few weeks ago, they begin to concede 20,000, and some of them even more than that. This is a bigger thing than they bargained for, and it is not strange that many Minnesota Liberals are returning to the Republican fold.

The election of a Mormon in Utah is now claimed as a Greeley victory. This is the way the Louisville Courier Journal puts it: "The Greeley epidemic is prevailing in Utah also. George Q Cannon, Liberal candidate for Delegate to Congress, was elected over Maxwell, Grant nominee, by an overwhelming majority, on the 5th. The Greeley ground swell is felt everywhere." Nothing like eating your crow cheerfully

A Milwaukee paper says the Greeley Club in the Fourth Ward of that city has given up the ghost. The tidal wave from Maine struck it a few days after the election in that State, and the officers, who were about the only persons present, tearfully tendered their resignation to each other, expressed themselves satisfied that they were "a gone community," hoped that some "Liberal" soul would pay their outstanding bills and then sadly retired to the slow music of a hurdy-gurdy in an adjoining saloon. They were sick, and their last words were, "Send for Nasby."

It is estimated that enough property and and machinery go to waste with many farmers every year to pay all the taxes on the farm.

The brig Perpetua is now discharging Iron at Kalama

The brig Orient is now at St. Helens receiving a cargo of Lumber for San Francisco.

The bark Manila having completed her cargo of Wheat for Liverpool, went down the river yesterday from Columbia City to Astoria. She will pass out to sea the first opportunity.

The brig Perpetua will load at some point down the river for San Francisco, as soon as she completes her cargo of Iron. She will probably receive Lumber.

The bark Navigator went down the river on Tuesday.

The Electra will soon follow. Both the vessels will stop at Columbia City, at which point their cargoes of Wheat will be completed, by means of steamers and barges from this port.

The bark Siam is now at Astoria.

The schooner Mila Bond is reported in the river.

The money market exhibits no material change. Collections are reported as made with much difficulty, owing to the prevailing scarcity of coin. Nevertheless we are informed that our retailers will generally be able to meet their liabilities without much pressure. The probabilities of a dull week are before us, as the State Fair is in progress, and to the great attraction to the people of Oregon for the time being.

The eastern money market seems again to be settled after the late corner in gold, which is said to have been caused by Henry N. Smith and Jay Gould. It appears that Drew had made a "corner" in Erie stock, to tighten which he was obliged to buy more or less his grip. But Erie stock called for gold, and the Smith-Gould party bulled the gold market so that at one time the advance in price represented $125 premium on every $10,000 bought. Erie stock ran up in four hours from 46¾ to 55 The "shorts" on Erie had to pay from $200 to $250 for the use of 100 shares of Erie for one day In many instances those who had payments to meet in gold were taxed 1½ per cent for the day. A. T. S ewart's payments were so heavy that the premium cost him $70,000. This rate, it is said, was never exceeded but once before, During the pressure Union Pacific stock declined from a quarter to a half per cent, and Vanderbilt bought 50,000 shares.

The Philadelphia Ledger of a late date, commenting on the financial situation of that city, remarks: "There was more money about, and short paper was more in demand "

The Cincinnati Gazette, referring to the money status of that town, says: "The banks, as a rule, have ample means, and discount freely Money was freely offered on call or specific time at 8 per cent "

The New York Times, in its money article, puts forth the following "It is now certain that the continued on a la mone)on the street, far below the bank terms, and when the banks themselves were complaining of poverty at 7 per cent, was made quite as artificial as the sudden stringency on call loan, which has succeeded this case."

The following excellent suggestions in regard to wheat raising on this coast, are taken from an address delivered by President Reed, before the California Agricultural Society. Many of his remarks apply to Oregon equally with California. He says:

There is no good reason why California wheat cannot be handled as the wheat in the Eastern States is handled, and the sacks in which it is delivered to the buyer completed and returned to the seller. There is no reason why wheat cannot be shipped in bulk from Vallejo, Oakland, San Francisco, or any other port on the Pacific coast, to Liverpool, as well as from Chicago, New York, or any other port on the Atlantic seaboard Our wheat is richer, plumper, and is always delivered in better shipping condition than any wheat produced east of the Rocky Mountains Vessels can be prepared to receive wheat in bulk to double Cape Horn as well as to cross the Atlantic, and the percentum of insurance need be increased only in the same proportion here as there

In proportion as we lessen the cost of production and marketing a product, just in that proportion we increase the profits of produces or decrease the cost to the consumer Therefore, it is just as much for the interest of the farmers of this State to secure cheap transportation for their surplus grain from their farms to the door of the consumer, as it is to procure cheap labor, or increased facilities in its production Twelve years ago, and from that time until 1870, the freight on wheat—by boat—from Chico, Butt county, to Oak Francisco, was $6 per ton; in 1870, it was inc reased to $8 50, in 1871, to $9, and this year it is $9 50. Until this season, the freight on wheat from Grayson, on the San Joaquin river, to Stockton, was $1 per ton; this year it is increased to $4 It costs more to move grain from nearly every Wheat growing district in the interior of the State to San Francisco, than it did four years ago.

In 1871, the freight on wheat from San Francisco to Liverpool was on an average about $10 per ton, while this year Reiroe it became apparent that we were going to have a large surplus, and that that surplus would be wanted in England—the freight has ranged at about $25 per ton It was worth but $10 to ship wheat from San Francisco to Liverpool in 1871—it is worth but that now, and the excess of $15 per ton is so much unnecessary expense to the farmers of this State in marketing the grain it is estimated that we will have 70,000 tons of wheat to space, and if we were to ship the entire surplus to Liverpool, this unnecessary tax on the grain producers of the State will foot up to $10,500,000. Throwing out of the estimate the unnecessary additional expense of the inland transportation, which must be several million dollars, by adding the mark tax and the legitimate profit on the grain crop this year is reduced below what the farmers should have realized, $12,000,000

This is not alone a drag on the agricultural, but every other industry of the State feels indirectly the oppression, and hence every other industry—the manufacturer the mechanic, and the laboring man—are all interested in averting the evil. But how is it to be done? Unity of action on the part of those interested—business tact energy and perseverence—and a very large amount of annual interest, all these must be secured, and the perfect co-operation of all will be necessary with proper security the cheap capital can be secured Ample and undoubted security will give us command of the keys to the coffers of England and Germany at from three to four per cent. per annum

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, IN CONVENTION AT PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 6, 1872.

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in its National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872 again confidence its faith in its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

During the eleven years of its ascendancy It has accepted with grand courage the momentous duties of the time, has suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated four millions of slaves, decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage. Exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity, in criminally punished few men of the political offenses and has warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has inaugurated a new policy toward the Indians; the Pacific Railroad and similar great enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted to completion; the public lands have been carefully guarded against monopoly, and rightfully distributed among actual settlers; immigration has been protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of the rights of naturalized citizens secured from European powers. In the form of the currency, in the payment of the public debt, and in the general legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of that harmonious relation.

2 We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the humble and defenceless people who were subjected to the cruelties of those organizations, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

3. We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or guise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of the public debt, and of the burdens of taxation created by the late war, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

4. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, their application for emancipation to further which was received with satisfaction; and the honest decision of our country now demands additional rights should be treated, with respectful consideration.

5. We hereby declare it to be the settled purpose of the nation, in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

6. The Republican party proposes to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments. It disapproves of asserting constitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by the interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government.

7. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and shipbuilding.

8. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.
